Leaders See Defense Act Passage Set

Russell, Bridges Say Ike Will Get Necessary Powers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two influential leaders predicted today that the Senate will approve a defense reorganization plan in about the form it passed the House Thursday by a 402-1 vote.

"I think we'll give President Eisenhower all the powers that a president should have to act as our commander in chief," Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said in an interview. He is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Bridges Sees Accord

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), senior GOP member of the Armed Services Committee, agreed in a separate interview, saying:

"We will not accomplish everything the President wants but I think we can reach a common ground that will be acceptable."

As passed by the House, the bill would give the secretary of defense greater authority over unified combat commands. It also would strengthen the Joint Chiefs of Staff and centralize weapons research and development under a single director.

While saying the bill generally is acceptable to him, Eisenhower urged changes in three sections that he said would hamper streamlining operations or permit "legalized insubordination."

But House Democrats, joined by a few Republicans, dealt Eisenhower a stinging defeat Thursday in rejecting four moves to bring the reorganization bill closer in line with his wishes.

Amid politically charged debate, the House rejected three separate amendments before defeating the 192-a last-ditch motion to send the bill back to the Armed Services Committee with instructions to write in all the Eisenhower-backed provisions.

In preliminary voting, the House rejected 183-170 a move to delete a requirement that the secretary of defense exercise his authority over the Army, Navy and Air Force only through their own civilian secretaries.

Refuse To Change Section

Then it refused 123-97 to change a section allowing the secretary or military chief of any of the three services to carry appeals to Congress when higher orders are issued to change or abolish combat functions. Congress could block such an order and the president could not veto the congressional action.

By a 150-82 vote the House next turned back an amendment to water down a provision permitting any service secretary or military chief to take defense problems to Congress on their own initiative.

Red Message Under Study

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department today studied a new Russian letter to President Eisenhower believed to deal with the long-discussed summit meeting.

A State Department spokesman said the letter ran to about 18 pages, plus another 20 pages of annexes. It was delivered to the State Department last night by Sergei R. Striganov, Number Two man at the Soviet Embassy here.

The spokesman said the letter "apparently" dealt with a summit meeting.

Test Can Show Emotional Maturity, Specialist Says

ROCHELLE PARK, N. J. (AP)—If you want to find out how grown-up emotionally you are, here's a test.

Following are seven qualities listed by Dr. William C. Menninger of Topeka, Kan., a noted psychiatrist, as criteria of emotional maturity.

1. Can you change? (Which implies the abandonment of solutions learned in childhood.)
2. Can you accept frustration for future gain? (Compromising rather than running away or fighting.)
3. Can you find more satisfaction in giving than getting? (A Mental Health Center.

British Rush Sky Troopers To Greek Isle

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain is flying paratroopers to this Mediterranean island colony to strengthen forces trying to end continuing clashes between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. Eleven Cypriots have been killed since Saturday.

British plans for the future of Cyprus—to be announced Tuesday—are expected to intensify the violence by failing fully to satisfy either the 400,000 Cypriots of Greek descent or the 100,000 Turks.

The Greeks want the island annexed to Greece. The Turks want Cyprus partitioned if the British leave.

The situation approached civil war Thursday with the bloodiest battle yet. A gang of 300 Greek Cypriots tried to raid a Turkish village near Nicosia and was met with gunfire. Three Greeks were killed and nine wounded.

British troops headed off part of the Greek mob, arresting 30 and disarming the rest, but one group set fire to crops and was attacked by hidden Turks. Seventeen Turks were arrested.

In another clash, club-swinging British troops broke up a Turkish mob trying to storm a Nicosia police station. Authorities clamped an earlier curfew on the Turkish section of town.

The War Office in London said the situation on Cyprus is deteriorating and more troops are needed to bolster the British forces that make this an East Mediterranean stronghold.

His condition was described as critical.

Rebel Forces In Lebanon To Defy Council

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanese rebel leaders vow they will fight on against pro-Western President Camille Chamoun despite the intervention of the U.N. Security Council.

The vanguard of a U.N. observation group made plans today to carry out a Security Council directive to watch for the arms and men the Lebanese government accuses President Nasser's United Arab Republic of sending from the neighboring Syrian province to help the rebels.

After a lengthy meeting Thursday night, rebel leaders said if the council really wants to end the five-week crisis it should bar arms for the government from Turkey, Iraq and Jordan.

"It is these arms which constituted the primary cause of the tragic turn of events in Lebanon," a rebel statement said.

The United States and Britain have made no secret of their arms shipments to the Lebanese government, a legal regime and an ally. But there has been no evidence of shipments from the other nations the rebels named.

Boy, 17, Enters Guilty Plea In Mother's Death

NEW YORK (AP)—A 17-year-old boy pleaded guilty Thursday to second degree murder in the shooting of his mother.

By entering the plea, John E. Jessup of Brooklyn, escaped the possibility of the electric chair.

No date was set for the sentencing, 20 years to life in prison. Jessup argued with his mother, Gladys, 38, over his using the telephone to call a girl friend last Sept. 27. Later he shot his mother in the back of the head as she passed along a hallway outside the bedroom, where he and a chum were examining his collection of hunting rifles.

Labor Reform Bill Changes Set In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid partisan disputes over the value of changes already made, the Senate moved on today to more controversial amendments to a bill designed to curb labor union abuses.

With a 12-hour session behind them, some senators predicted the bill could be disposed of by late tonight. Others said the debate would go into next week.

Eleven amendments were voted on Thursday in a long day and night of political jockeying. Nine were offered by Republicans.

Ten of the amendments were adopted, most of them without any dispute. Several cleaned up points in the bill objected to by the Eisenhower administration.

Republicans professed themselves well satisfied with the first day's results, contending that acceptance of the amendments showed the bill had many holes. Democrats replied that many of the amendments were trivial, and were offered in an effort to give backing to GOP charges that the original version was soft on labor.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), floor manager for the bill, opposed only one of the amendments. It was beaten 47-38, but it affected only a minor section of the bill. However, some senators thought this vote might set a pattern for defeat of the more stringent amendments to be offered later by Republicans.

Senate Passes Pay Raise Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed today a compromise bill giving a 10 per cent pay boost to the government's 1,021,000 civil service and other employees.

Action came by voice vote adoption of a report agreed upon Thursday adjusting Senate and House differences over the legislation.

With the House in recess until Monday, final congressional action was put off until next week.

Congressman Urges Ike To Fire Adams

Mack Points To Promises For Clean-up

Presidential Aide Gave Pledge During Campaign For Ike

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today rejected a Congressional demand that he fire Sherman Adams, his top aide.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty made the President's position clear in answer to a reporter's question.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. (D-Ill.) said today President Eisenhower should fire Sherman Adams, Mack said this would be in keeping with Eisenhower campaign pledges for a government "clean as a hound's tooth."

Three other Democrats on the House subcommittee checking federal regulatory agencies said it is up to Eisenhower to decide whether to discharge Adams, his top aide, because of Adams' dealings with wealthy Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Termed "Old Friend" Adams Thursday acknowledged being a hotel guest of Goldfine, whom he described as an old friend. Adams also said he contacted federal agencies on cases involving Goldfine, but he denied bringing any pressure on Goldfine's behalf. He called such charges "unwarranted and unfair."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower agrees Adams' relations with Goldfine were not improper and that the President feels Adams' usefulness has not been jeopardized.

Rep. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo.) said there was evidence of Goldfine having picked up a $1,300 tab following a three-day stay by Adams at Plymouth, Mass.

Adams said Thursday the subcommittee could have disclosed that he and his wife were guests of Goldfine at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth last year. He named no figure. Earlier the subcommittee developed evidence of $2,000 worth of Boston hotel bills that Goldfine paid for Adams in the past four years.

Adams' statement, in a letter to subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.), was put out by the White House after subcommittee investigators reported allegations that Adams got the Securities and Exchange Commission and Federal Trade Commission to soften action against Goldfine.

Denies "Insinuations" "I categorically deny such insinuations," Adams said.

Adams is a former Republican governor of New Hampshire where Goldfine has business interests.

Harris said that, regardless of the Adams letter, he will go ahead with subcommittee plans to develop its case starting Monday with testimony from the SEC and FTC. The inquiry at this stage deals mainly with Goldfine companies.

Union Officials Get Pact Talk Key Roles

DETROIT (AP)—An army of 20,000 minor union officials has become a vital factor in the United Auto Workers' fight to win new contract demands from the automotive Big Three.

They are the union shop stewards and plant committeemen now working under unusual conditions to handle the problems of nearly half a million General Motors, Chrysler and Ford UAW workers during their current no-contract period.

The stewards and committeemen figured prominently in the UAW strategy when the union's contracts with the Big Three ran out about two weeks ago. Since then, for the first time in over 17 years, the auto plants have been operating without a contract.

GM, Chrysler, Ford and the union all said when the contracts expired that they would do their best to keep the plants operating normally while negotiators tried to agree on a new pact.

It's nearly impossible to find anyone who sees chance of agreement before August. The UAW Thursday set in motion the machinery to take strike votes among GM, Ford and Chrysler workers but emphasized there was no plan for an immediate strike.

The auto companies' no-contract operations brought up new problems daily for workers and management alike.

Typical of the union stewards is Laymon Good of UAW local 7 which represents 4,000 UAW workers at Chrysler's Kercheval-Jefferson plant.

Under the recently expired contract, Good devoted practically all his work time to handling complaints and grievances.

Chrysler, like the other auto companies, pays the stewards and committeemen the rates they would get if working on their regular jobs in the auto plants.

In the no-contract period, Chrysler and the other companies have tightened up.

Junta Given Rebuke For Its Actions

Collapse Expected If Showdown With Premier Develops

By PETER WEBB

ALGIERS (UPI)—The dissension-ridden all-Algerian Public Safety Committee today bowed, outwardly at least, to Gen. Charles de Gaulle's stern rebuke of its "untimely and unfortunate actions."

For the second straight day the committee called off a meeting at which right-wing extremists hoped to convince the military-civilian junta it should spread its revolt to the mainland.

Reliable sources said the junta now was so dissension-ridden it would collapse under any real showdown with de Gaulle and that for the moment the premier held the cards.

Meeting Called Off

The meeting today was called by Leon Delbecq, the fiery committee vice president, to report on his visit to France where he met with public safety groups throughout the country.

But it was called off, apparently because the bona fide de Gaulle supporters were at loggerheads with the Johnny-come-lately Gaullists whose real aims are to set up a neo-Fascist regime in France.

Some real die-hard colonels on the committee also were reported to want a sweeping revolution in order to revamp French society along these lines but even these were expected to obey any orders to quit the public safety movement.

There also was a widespread feeling that de Gaulle sooner or later would order the soldiers in Algeria to stick to soldiering and resign from the committee. So far he had not given the order.

None apparently questioned de Gaulle's control of the army without which these die-hards would be powerless to make new revolutions in France or Algeria.

To Broadcast Tonight

PARIS (UPI)—A right-wing rebellion against Gen. Charles de Gaulle's moderate policies gathered momentum today in France and Algeria.

The premier was taking the problem to the nation tonight in a "fireside chat" broadcast by radio and television. It was indicated he would issue a new warning to the extremists to come to heel.

Mystery surrounded the Paris visit of Jacques Soustelle, the political brains of the rebellious "Committee of Public Safety" in Algiers who was summoned to Paris by de Gaulle yesterday.

There were reports de Gaulle might read him the riot act for (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

'Thor' Fired At Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A big Thor intermediate range missile, which the Air Force will use as the main stage of its moon rockets, roared up from Cape Canaveral today on a "routine" test flight.

The towering Thor, some 65 feet tall and five or six feet thick at its base, was launched without the two additional high-power stages it will have mounted atop it for the moon shots.

The firing appeared to be successful. The missile, its heavy ice coating making it look like a giant ice cream cone, roared off the launching pad at 10:06 a. m. (EST).

It was visible for about four minutes as it streaked into a partly cloudy sky and disappeared over the Atlantic.

Social Security Payments Rise

More Going Out Than Coming In, Congress Advised

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in its history, the social security system is paying out more in benefits this year than it is taking in from taxes and interest.

Its trustees reported to Congress today that the Old Age and Survivors Insurance trust fund will drop about $28 million dollars in the fiscal year ending June 30, and may show a total decline of three to four billion dollars for the five-year period ending June 30, 1962.

But they emphasized that for the long-range future the system remains in balance for all practical purposes. They said the trust fund total should start another long-term rise in 1965.

The trust fund reached a peak of 23 billion dollars last June 30. The estimated five-year drop still would leave 19 to 20 billion dollars in the trust fund, which was set up specifically to meet such fluctuations.

Increases in several classes of benefit payments were cited by the trustees in making their revised estimates. They included:

1. More claims than expected benefit at age 65. The report said were filed by persons first brought under the law in 1954 or 1956, especially farmers. Many of these people were already past retirement age and large numbers could qualify for benefits in a short period. This situation cannot be repeated because more workers find it more difficult to keep or find a job, more than had been covered and no large groups remain to be covered in the future, expected retired and applied for.
2. More women than expected benefits.

Graham Says U. S. Life Has Become 'Too Soft'

SAN FRANCISCO — (UPI) — Billy Graham says American youngsters are "almost sissies" — compared with youth in the Communist world.

"The Communists are going to sweep the world unless American youths are willing to dedicate themselves to Christ and march in His army," Graham told an audience of 18,500 in the Cow Palace last night.

Another 2,000 persons stood outside.

Life in America, he said, has become one of "softness, ease and comfort."

"The Communists are out-de-cating us," he said. "They have been teaching Christian lessons in discipline."

"These people in Russia aren't slaves. Millions of them are dedicated. They're out to change the world."

"Are you willing to change the world for Christ?"

At one point in his sermon, Graham asked all those under 25 years of age to stand up. Most of those in the audience rose. Thursday night is young people's night in Graham's crusade.

Swiss Women Vote Approved

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — The Swiss Parliament approved a constitutional amendment today to grant voting rights to women for the first time in Swiss history.

Mitchell's Blast Gains His Point In Labor Act

WASHINGTON — James P. Mitchell, President Eisenhower's secretary of labor, is always getting out on a limb.

But he likes it there, and it seems to be his way of getting things done.

Mitchell surprised everyone Monday by sending a vehement message from Switzerland, where he was attending a meeting, blasting a Senate labor anticorruption bill as ineffective, worse than none at all.

The senators whose work he was criticizing called him intemperate, and said he was injecting the whole thing into politics. Mitchell came flying back from Europe Thursday and went up on Capitol Hill. The Senate got busy making changes he'd suggested.

"If he'd just made a simple statement, nobody would have paid any attention," an aide commented. "Maybe he did rock 'em, but he's won his point, hasn't he?"

This is nothing new to the burly, tousle-haired, 200-pound six-footer who at various times has had labor, business and apparently even the White House mad at him.

But he's a political good soldier; when overruled he accepts the decision. Last March he said a big cut in personal and business taxes was the next big step needed to halt the recession, and the administration was working on such a bill. A quick White House denial followed. Mitchell swallowed it.

Mitchell, 57, has been alternately cursed and praised by business one time, by labor another. He just barges along speaking his mind, and gets away with it. A hard worker, he spends nights and weekends too, on his job.

And when Republican campaign time comes around, nobody is out there pitching any harder than Mitchell.

Harriman Hits Faubus Actions

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman called Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus a "quitting" Thursday night at ceremonies honoring the nine Negro students who enrolled at Little Rock's Central High School.

"The name of Faubus will go down in history with 'lynch' and 'quitting' as a man who failed to do his duty and use his office to uphold the public interest," Harriman declared.

Airman Seeking To End His Life Eludes Pursuers

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — A lovesick airman who threatened a suicide crash in his rented plane was sought in northern Louisiana and northeastern Texas today.

Airman 3-C Donald Keeton, 19, of Dallas, Tex., who was stationed at Keesler AFB, Biloxi, Miss., flew about 250 miles Thursday before pursuers lost track of him in northern Louisiana near Monroe. He was flying a two-seater Cessna 120, painted yellow with black trimmings, which he had rented at Gulfport, Miss., about 20 miles from Biloxi. Keeton had less than two hours fuel when he left this central Louisiana city.

When he disappeared he had covered about half the distance from Gulfport to Dallas. He had been under way about four hours.

In Dallas 17-year-old Lynn Bowling sobbed "He's the most wonderful person in the world. I wanted to get married, but called it off because I thought I was too young."

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

We Need De Gaulle

WHENEVER a foreign crisis short of war dominates U.S. headlines for any length of time, it seems inevitably to produce a reaction of weariness and indifference among many Americans. Premier Charles de Gaulle of France hardly has had time to warm up his premier's chair, but already you can hear a lot of people over here saying: "I'm sick and tired of reading about De Gaulle." The unmistakable meaning of this response is that they do not believe De Gaulle and the French crisis are important in their lives. They are saying, in effect, that it matters not whether De Gaulle succeeds or fails, whether Algeria's rebels under General Massu, Jacques Soustelle and Leon Delbecq stir civil war or join De Gaulle in a unified effort to save France. Is France's fate really so meaningless to us?

FROM THE President on down, the men we charge with highest responsibility for our national safety and well being do not think this is true. Their persuasive arguments to the contrary: Even though this be the age of space vehicles and high-traveling missiles and long-range planes bearing nuclear weapons, Western Europe stands as a great and vital land bulwark against the westward flow of Soviet communism. Industrially rich, populous France, anchored at the center of that barrier, is indispensable to its usefulness. A France seized by its own Communists or crumbling in weakness and thus ripe for foreign prey would raise the grave danger of that barrier being flanked and ultimately breached. The balance of resources and populations is not so favorably tilted toward America and the free world that it can afford to see even the smallest additional patch of free soil pass under communism's grinding heel. We need on our side the resources and the skills of the hundreds of millions in Western Europe. France represents a big share of these. But even more, its collapse would imperil the whole structure.

TO LOSE FRANCE to the Soviet orbit would be a terrible blow by itself. To lose all Europe would be to put America in desperate isolation. Freedom as a force in this world shrinks, with the loss of every square mile of free territory. France is a fabled nurturing ground of liberty. Every American's freedom would be drawn more tightly around him, with a narrowing margin of safety, if the French fell apart. All these grim prospects loom large on the horizon as France seeks at a late hour to compensate for decades of irresponsible fumbling and evasion, to struggle toward a new, effective, enduring unity of purpose and action. Charles de Gaulle is the symbol of this belated but crucial effort. On his back rides the destiny of France, and perhaps of the free world. And the enervating, corrosive Algerian war is the pivot around which his effort must swing. Seemingly, only he has the prestige and the stern properties of leadership required to force an end to this conflict. Even the re-making of France's government into a stronger mold will have slim meaning unless this canker spot is removed. Sick and tired of De Gaulle? We might as well say we are sick of voting for the men of our choice, of speaking out as we wish, of following our personal bent wherever it may lead, of walking the streets free and unafraid. For he fights to save a great land where these things are tottering.

Medium Rare, Please

THE LADY FROM France was delighted with American hospitality. That was not surprising. But a couple of her reactions were—pleasantly so—if only because France has for so long been regarded as the veritable home of good food and good wine. At dinner, the guest from France was quite apparently impressed with the excellence of the light wine served by her hostess, and assumed that it was imported. When told that it was an inexpensive American table wine, she was both astonished and pleased. A later encounter with that American delicacy, steak cooked over charcoal on an outdoor grill, also "sent" the lady from France. She immediately arranged to buy a similar grill and take it back to the stronghold of champagne and crepes suzette. The moral is that more and more Europeans are learning that the United States also has something genuine to offer in the way of pleasant gustatory experiences.

De Gaulle's Stand On NATO Means Much

PARIS—France is the physical capital of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the core of its complicated network of communications, the heartland of supply and support for any military effort it must make.

Since the United States bases its policy for defense of the West squarely on NATO, NATO relations with General Charles de Gaulle, are only less important to Americans than de Gaulle's feeling about the United States itself.

Though critical, the problem is not now urgent. NATO is a going concern and so far there has not been a breakdown in its French connections nor even in that vast and costly string of Strategic Air Command bases along the troubled shores of North Africa.

AMENITIES have been exchanged between de Gaulle and NATO Supreme Commander Lauris Norstad, the Minnesota-born American Air Force general. That is all. General Norstad can only stand and wait, and this he is doing with a truly exemplary display of discretion and calm confidence.

In a situation like the present, every morsel of gossip is precious. Norstad abstains even from that pleasure except with those upon whom experience has taught him he absolutely can rely. If a mistake is made in relations with that proud man now in command of France's destiny, Norstad is not going to be the one to make it.

TO HIS OWN people he preaches patient optimism. He bases it upon the fact that NATO works, not perfectly but well. Like the United Nations, it has with all its faults been accepted by public opinion as well as by governments in its member nations.

He hopes and believes that General de Gaulle, a military man, will be slow to alter a proved military force in being. NATO commanders all do expect that a man so dedicated to French greatness will raise questions and be tough about the answers.

THE PROBLEM may be less difficult because so many of the old NATO hands who were part of the wartime difficulties with de Gaulle are gone or going. Soon, for example, the picturesque and controversial British field marshal, Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, retires.

Even Montgomery is said to have mellowed, although those who have read his soon-to-be-published memoirs suggest that he has not mellowed quite enough to make them happy bedtime reading at, among other places, 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Northwest, Washington, D. C. Considering how many people have taken a cut at Montgomery, it does not seem unfair to let him get some of his own back.

ANYWAY, de Gaulle will have steadily fewer people to deal with at NATO who have a vested interest in the World War II command post. The newcomers will be men, too, who saw at first hand the terrible weakness of the dead republic and wish de Gaulle well with real fervor.

He is not expected to like the present appointment of a German—Lieutenant General Hans Speidel—as commander of ground forces on the central front. Otherwise no one quite knows where his objections might lie, except that they will have the aim of increasing France's NATO voice.

The United States today has about 50,000 soldiers and airmen at French bases costing upward of one and a half billion dollars. About 50 installations, including some half dozen air bases, are included in the total.

Goddard Rocketry Patents Are Basic

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It was Lone Eagle Charles A. Lindbergh who opened the opportunity for the late Dr. Robert H. Goddard to become the godfather of American missile men.

This was revealed by Dr. Goddard's widow, Mrs. Esther C. Goddard, in Washington for the first Goddard Memorial Award dinner.

"Lindy" came to Worcester, Mass., where Dr. Goddard was a professor at Clark University and where he conducted his first rocket experiments. Mrs. Goddard showed the fiercer some movies she had taken of early tests.

Impressed, Colonel Lindbergh went to Daniel Guggenheim, whose foundation sponsored much aviation pioneering. The Guggenheims gave Dr. Goddard, $25,000 a year for research. He moved his operation to the "prairies"—"We didn't dare call them deserts," says Mrs. Goddard—near Roswell, N.M.

day's missile launchers are still trying to achieve and wish they had.

DR. GODDARD was born in 1882 at Worcester and was educated at Worcester Polytechnic. He kept a diary from the time he was 17 years old, when his first experiments began.

He started his experiments with ordinary Fourth of July sky-rockets. He found them very inefficient. There was no exhaust cone to shape the thrust and give good direction. That was the beginning.

He wrote voluminously, not only in his diary, but in separate papers. Mrs. Goddard collected 136 of these papers after her husband's death in August, 1945.

She took them to Harry Guggenheim, who looked them over and decided that the ideas they contained should be patented. During World War II all patents had been sealed, so Dr. Goddard had not applied for patents on his own ideas.

WITH THE HELP of Charles T. Hawley of Worcester, Mrs. Goddard's attorney, the patents were secured. The last of them came through in April, 1957—nearly 12 years later.

These patents cover the whole range of rocketry. They unquestionably establish Dr. Goddard as the father of this science. Russian and German scientists wrote a lot of theory. Dr. Goddard proved it out. His patents lay out many of the basic principles still used today.

He wasn't interested in money. Two hundred thousand dollars or so probably financed his life work. But from 1930 on, he was doing what he wanted most to do, and he was happy. Though none of his rockets ever got into the upper atmosphere, Dr. Goddard wrote much on space flight.

REPLIES TO CELANESE—Mayor George Henderson this morning denied that the city was obligated in any way to return $20,000 contributed by the Celanese Corporation of America toward the building of a 20-inch water line from Ridgedale reservoir to its plant at Amelle.

TEMPERATURE DROP — A sudden change from almost torrid heat in recent days was reported throughout the area this morning. The lowest reading in the city was 56 degrees, with the temperature rising to 69 at noon. The towns in the surrounding area reported lows down to 45 degrees.

TOKEN PAYMENT—Washington sources today said Great Britain has decided to make a token payment of ten per cent of the $75,500,000 war debt installment due Thursday. It is rumored that President Roosevelt wants definite assurance that the token payment will not be regarded as the basis of the final debt settlement, as was accorded Germany.

COAL BILL INTRODUCED — Congressman David J. Lewis has introduced a bill to stabilize and revive the American coal industry. The bill contains provisions for the control and limitation of production aimed at preventing cut-throat competition.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Any man operating a typewriter has his days when he believes that no matter what he says, it is going into a void surrounded by a cloud of disinterest.

You can write about New York, its people, its streets, its color and flavors and excesses, its buildings and its theatres, its personalities and its rogues, and the silence that ensues is often deafening. And then you write about a simple thing like a spray for plants to keep dogs away or a plastic compound for house repairs or a jumble shop of 89 cheeses, 57 sauces, skillet, votive lights, butter molds and Heaven knows what, or a steak restaurant where Mark Twain used to dine—and the mail tumbles in.

IT WAS SUNSET over Long Island Sound the other evening and the telephone rang.

"You don't know me," a voice said, "but I'm from Dallas. Where's that steak place you wrote about?"

"You tell the gentleman, and then he says: 'And how about that place that has so many things for eating, for kitchen use, for all kinds of uses?' and you tell him that, too."

Then you ask him: "How did you know where this house was?"

"You sometimes say Long Island Sound or Glen Cove or Sea Cliff or Roslyn," he answered. "I asked information where they were, she said Nassau County, so I got the Nassau County telephone book and looked you up. We do things direct in Texas."

Next day you came in to work and there was a stack of mail wanting to know about the liquid steel and the spray. Men may have an interest in de Gaulle, Moscow, Thor missiles or Democrats, but when you get right down to cases they want to know most how to keep dogs off their petunias.

A NOVELIST came over to sit and yarn the other night and he said he had just received an honorary degree from a small college and he felt fine about it.

"I was poor as a cane brake hound—as a kid," he said. "Never even had proper schooling, and then this came along. I know it won't change my life or get me a pound of tea at the supermarket, but I like it. What's that fool quote, something about 'Just for a ribbon to wear on his coat, a medal for his sleeve'? That's not it, but it's close. Only I'm not leaving anyone. You ever get an honorary degree?"

You say, no, you did not, and the chances are much better than even that you never would, nor could you think of any valid reason why you should.

"I had no honest reason, either," he said. "A couple of books that were spelled right and had the commas in the right places don't qualify a man for that kind of honor, but I'll tell you something: for the first time in my life since I started to sell what I wrote I don't feel I am operating under false pretensions. I feel educated."

YOU WOULDN'T think, walking along Eighth Avenue in New York, that you would come upon a real Western goods store, a place selling harness, saddles and Western ranch clothes, including Stetsons and chaps, embroidered rodeo shirts and cowboy boots. But there it is suddenly, and it isn't a place for tourists wanting a souvenir of New York or for kids wanting a papier-mache cowboy hat. It is the real goods, selling honest ranch merchandise.

Astonished, you go in and the man at the counter is willing to talk. You tell him that the rodeo only plays Madison Square Garden once a year for a few weeks and that you didn't think there would be any call for his kind of merchandise, particularly since the rodeo people bring their own gear along, including fancy shirts.

"I STARTED in a hole in the wall with tourist stuff," he said. "For kids. I did well enough, but then people started coming in and ask for real ranch stuff. It seems there are about 15 authentic dude ranches in New Jersey and New York, and they wanted the McCoy goods."

I began to order for specific customers and I guess the word spread. Anyway, here I am after seven years and busy as a bird dog.

I even had a man want a silver-studded saddle in black leather. Came to a whale of a lot of money. I got it for him and he paid cash. He's never ridden West of the Susquehanna River, but he wanted to be an authentic, real cowboy, although I don't think many working cowboys have $1,500 saddles.

"I order shirts with special embroidery and a lot of things like that. I haven't any 'slum' in the place any more."

Slum is carnival or circus talk for tourists, merchandise, cheap, shoddy and usually short-lived.

And, near him, there is also a saloon in which exactly 82 per cent of the customers order and drink Irish whisky only. You ask the man how he knows it is 82 per cent and he looks at you as though you were an idiot and says: "Because 82 per cent of my reorders of bottled stock is for Irish whisky. That accurate enough?"

Mule Works, But Doesn't Kick

WASHINGTON — With a magnesium halter in my hot little hand, I've been out leading a mechanical mule. This is the danglest beast you ever did see. It bucks but doesn't kick, because instead of feet it's got wheels.

Slap its aluminum face and it stops without biting. Yank its steel cable tail, as you would a power lawnmower, and it starts obediently.

This incredible mechanism has been almost a military secret for the last several years while the engineers sought to develop a metal mule that would go anywhere on gasoline that an old-style hayburner could travel.

THE NEW MULE now is in quantity production in Toledo, Ohio, for the Army Ordnance Corps, and Kaiser-Willys Motors hauled out a sample here for the likes of me to test.

It consists essentially of a metal platform with four wheels and an engine beneath. In front is a steering wheel; the driver can sit down and drive if he wants. He also can leap off, grab the wheel (the steering column is on a swivel) and lead that mule through rough country as he would the genuine article.

Amazing thing to me is that the designers of this last word in mechanical ingenuity have gone the full circle, back to the unknown cave dweller who first thought up that most remarkable of devices, the wheel.

THIS UNKNOWN genius replaced the runners under his sledge with wheels and thereby pushed civilization far ahead. He got a rough ride, because it never even occurred to him that springs could take the jolt out of his spine.

Springs, in fact, were developed many centuries later. They come now, as you know, in all forms—coil, leaf, torsion bar and, lately, air. Edgar Kaiser's engineers took a look at them all and decided none would do for the mechanical mule because they all weighed too much.

So they turned back to the prehistoric man's idea and came up with the first vehicle in generations without springs. The mule's axles are bolted solidly to the frame. The result is a machine that weighs 900 pounds, carries a 1,000-pound payload, and jolts you to your teeth. I thought I'd lose all the molars on the left side of my face, just driving at 15 miles an hour over a gutter.

CHAD CALHOUN, the vice-president of the Kaiser enterprises, said jolts didn't matter when the mule was carrying a load up a hillside with a 60 per cent grade. He said neither was it important that the mule was strictly illegal for city driving, because it wasn't meant to go on highways.

It is a rough country beast without windshield, seats, storage battery, generator, headlights, or instrument gauges of any kind. Its four-cylinder, air-cooled aluminum engine has a lawnmower-type generator to supply the spark.

The power goes to all four wheels; move the steering wheel and all the wheels turn, as on a fire engine. The mule can head in the other direction in 10 feet of space.

THERE WAS a traffic cop with mouth open watching me on the mule. He was so startled that he didn't even notice the lack of license plates or other appurtenances. Mule and I otherwise could have gone to jail.

Kaiser and Company also demonstrated a bigger mule with seats, which could be folded down to make a flat floor for freight-carrying. This had lamps, a windshield, a speedometer, an electric starter, and springs. No fun at all, in the opinion of this mule fancier.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—It has come to my attention lately that some men are having trouble with women—and don't know why.

In my lifetime, taking it as it goes, it has appeared to me that there are only two ways to deal with women, girls and widows: Go outdoors and point out the stars to them.

Stay indoors and tell them about the stars.

WOMEN HAVE a strange sense of truth.

They can be sharp as a tack in a business operation, but they are eternally vulnerable to flattery. They will even consciously pay for it to bolster their ego.

An honest man can look at himself in the mirror and know that he isn't desirable. It is the rare, rare woman who can do this.

No woman, though her face could startle a nervous rooster into laying an egg, is without a conviction of personal beauty.

A man hesitates to be handsome. A woman demands to be pretty. And in a way she can.

By being desirable and thinking of herself as desirable, she can enforce this concept of at least partial loveliness.

THE UGLIEST woman has a passion to be admired and desired, not for her character but for her physical charm.

The whole art of dealing with women is one of perpetual adoration, emphasized by departure.

Put your best girl on a pedestal, then walk away from her. The rest of her life she will gratefully pursue you with both of her clay feet.

Never turn back.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—I was trying to balance a lap supper on my dimpled knees; juggle a knife, fork, and ballpoint pen; keep a notebook out of the gravy, and an ear cocked at Edmund G. "Pat" Brown. As a consequence I have some liberally gray-garnished notes on the Democratic candidate for Governor of California, which should prove very nourishing in case I have to eat them.

First of all, let me say unequivocally that the aspirant who did a Tim Tam on the Silky Sullivan of Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland in the Golden State primaries is one of the most entertainingly frank individuals I have ever encountered in the upper reaches of politics.

I hung so excitedly on his every word that I almost hung a strand of string beans on the equally avid listener buffet next to me, who happened to be Rep. James Roosevelt, of the aforementioned State of California.

THIS LAP SUPPER for Pat Brown will go down in my memory book as one of the most pleasant working feeds I ever wolfed. Ordinarily I put these buffets down as a laborious extension of the working day and feel I should be receiving overtime. But the odds-on favorite for Governor of California held me so enthralled that I stayed on, and on, even after the only food left in sight was a puddle of defrosted ice cream on the right knee of the host.

Entertaining frankness is a distinct novelty among candidates for high office, but Mr. Brown's was no more novel than the company he was entertaining. I haven't been in such mixed company since a National Press Club outing got mixed up with a Sunday school picnic.

Candidate Brown was asked if Vice President Nixon had played any behind-the-scenes part in the California primaries. He grinned hugely and replied, none that he had been able to detect with the naked eye.

"Then," asked another inquisitor, "you are keeping an eye on the Vice President?"

Pat Brown threw back his head and emitted a vast chuckle.

"I ran into Mr. Nixon a while back," he recounted. "He shook hands with me and was kind enough to inquire about my health and that of my family. Then he beamed upon me in a fatherly way and said:

"I am interested in your career. I've been watching you."

"What did you reply to that?" asked George R. Killian, new head of MGM.

"I looked him straight in the eye," guffawed Pat Brown, "and said: 'If you don't think I've been watching you, you're crazy!'"

REP. ROOSEVELT asked Brown if he had suffered any serious setbacks in the campaign.

"Only one that really rocked me," replied the Governor-apparent. "I spoke one evening at an Armenian picnic. I told the Armenians what fine people they were; how they had surmounted persecution by the Turks and been ennobled by trial.

"Warming up, I likened them to my forebears who crossed the continent. I described how my ancestors had been set upon by hostile Indians. I said they had encountered untold savagery and won through. "I was a riot. Everybody flocked out to shake me by the hand. Finally only one man was left. I offered my hand, but he held back. I asked him what was wrong. He gave me a reproachful look and replied: "You have just lost the Indian vote!"

"I asked him how he happened to be among the Armenians and he said he had just wandered over from a neighboring picnic of transplanted Oklahoma Choctaws.

"You just can't win!"

AFTER THE recent death of Pentagon Manpower Boss William Francis on the tennis courts, doctors of Defense Boss Neil McElroy put a sudden stop to his tennis playing.

But following a study of Francis' condition, McElroy was given permission to start playing again. Turned out that Francis had a bad heart which could have killed him while he was watching TV. McElroy is robust, with a healthy heart. He plans to continue playing tennis as strenuously as ever.

$100,000 For Vacations

MR. F. SCHIAVONE

Anyone desiring extra vacation money can get it quickly from this friendly manager of Aetna Finance Company.

His office has allocated $100,000 this month for vacation-planning residents here and in nearby towns. Any amount from $50 to $1500 may be obtained, on signature or other plan.

Other loans may be obtained to buy new things, pay bills, or for other purpose. See or phone the Aetna office, 48 N. Centre St., Dial PA 4-5800.

(Loans over $300 made under Md. Industrial Finance Act.)

A serious downtown fire was averted yesterday afternoon when firemen were able to extinguish a third-floor blaze in the Montgomery Ward Company warehouse on Howard Street.

Residents phoned in the alarm at 5:39 p. m. when smoke was seen coming through an open window at the rear of the huge four-story brick structure located just off South Mechanic Street across from the Queen City Dairy.

Central's new pumper engine was called into action for the second time since being put into service, along with the hook and ladder truck and a pumper engine from West Side Fire Station.

Firemen broke open numerous windows along the side of the building and pushed hose through a hole chopped in wire screening, built inside the structure.

The blaze was just making headway, firemen reported, when they got to it. A large hole was burned in the flooring and the plasterboard walls and the ceiling and nearby steel girders were scorched by the flames. The building was filled with dense smoke making the work difficult for firemen at first.

The damage was kept to a minimum, however, as the third floor of the building was unoccupied at the time.

Montgomery Ward Company uses the first floor to store thousands of dollars worth of furniture, tires and other merchandise, which was slightly damaged by water.

The area to which the fire was confined by the prompt work of the firemen was occupied by the Second Army Reserve some years ago.

Firemen last night said the origin of the blaze is undetermined, but city police said reports have been received of prowlers in the building from time to time.

Evidence of someone breaking into the building was found last week, police stated, when windows were broken and numerous fire extinguishers inside the building were overturned and sprayed about the premises. Walls were damaged and other acts of vandalism were noted at that time.

Keyser Area Father-Son Breakfast Slated Sunday

KEYSER — A father-son conference of the Church of the Brethren will be held at Des Moines, Iowa, June 17-22, in the Memorial Auditorium.

Attending the conference from the local church will be Mrs. Premia Lipscomb, J. P. Judy, Emil Liller, Mrs. Bessie Ebert, Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Cook and Rev. Bowman.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Leo Costello, a native of Norfolk, Va., who now resides in Oakland, Md. He is general manager of the Tidewater-Hazelwood Construction Company now conducting the expansion program at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Trucker Fined
The largest fine ever assessed for an overloaded truck by a justice of the peace in Mineral County, $1,536, has been appealed to Circuit Court.

Justice of the Peace Gay Melton fined Gene Burgess and Boyd Burgess, doing business as Burgess Brothers Farm Service, that amount plus $5.50 costs; and their attorney, N. Howard Rogers, said he would appeal the fine to the higher court.

The huge fine resulted when Burgess Brothers used a borrowed truck with dealer's license tags on it to make an emergency delivery of chicken feed. They said their two trucks were broken down and were being repaired at the time, and they borrowed a truck from the Keyser Auto Mart to make the delivery.

A State Road Commission weighing crew stopped the truck on New Creek Drive April 24, and charged the Burgessses with being overweight the entire load of 30,200 pounds because of the dealer's license.

The fine is figured on a graduated scale for each pound of overload, which made the amount so large.

W. Va. Girls State Rejects Teacher Bill

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va. (AP) The Rhododendron Girls State Legislature convened in joint session today to hear a message from Gov. Barbara Cook of Mullens, and to act on additional bills.

Yesterday, the Senate rejected a House-approved bill providing for payment of school teachers' salaries during summer vacation months.

Federalist Beverly Greathouse of New Cumberland was elected president yesterday of the Senate, in which her party holds a 7-5 edge over the Nationalists. The Nationalists, on the other hand, have a 20-15 edge over the Nationalists. The Nationalists, on the other hand, have a 20-15 House margin.

Miss Cook was inaugurated, along with other state officers of this annual citizenship training camp, yesterday afternoon, with State Supreme Court Judge Chauncey Browning administering the oaths of office.

Among guests at last night's Governor's Banquet were Miss Cook's parents, Mayor and Mrs. Woodrow Cook of Mullens; and two former Girls State directors, Mrs. Wayne Reynolds of Beckley and Mrs. B. D. Ward, Kingwood.

Mrs. Ward also is a former director of Girls Nation, and is a past national president of the American Legion's auxiliary. The auxiliary of the Legion's state department sponsors Girls State here each year.

Today's schedule also included county court sessions, and the first Supreme Court session in Girls State history. Judge Browning still was here to supervise the Supreme Court activity.

The Girls State staff selects today 13 girls from among 24 nominees chosen from the various cottages as outstanding citizens who will return next year as junior counselors.

The 336 girls here in turn will select tonight from the 13 two representatives to attend the 13 year's Girls Nation encampment.

Garrett Area Blood Donors Give 98 Pints

OAKLAND — Ninety-eight persons contributed blood during the recent visit of the Johnstown bloodmobile unit to Oakland.

The contributions filled the quota for the year and gave 17 additional pints toward the 40 that the county was short in filling its quota for last year.

The local Red Cross unit was hoping for 120 pints in order to completely wipe out the deficit. Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman, gave out the following statistics: 135 persons scheduled, 67 kept their appointment and 42 walk-ins; making a total of 109 appearing. There were 11 rejections, making the total for the afternoon 98.

Mrs. Stemple said there were 18 first time donors and that 30 persons gave as specific replacements.

Mrs. Roscoe Swiger became a Gallon Club member.

The chairman said that some 25 Amish people of the Gortner section, came to 'donate blood. They were brought to the fire hall by Emile Germain in his school bus. This is the third time that this group has given blood.

Volunteers To Resume Work At Lonaconing Swim Pool

LONACONING — Volunteers known as the Lonaconing Swimming Pool Association.

The project in the Charlestown area was halted following complaints that the new swimming pool might create a health hazard.

State Department of Health officials made a routine inspection, James said, and found no particular health hazards. They offered several suggestions which will be followed in the interest of general public safety, he noted.

Some of the complaints came from persons who were of the opinion that raw sewage is dumped into the stream where the old reservoir is being renovated into a swimming pool. The health officials found that some six or seven families live along the stream above the old reservoir, but all houses are at least 75 to 100 yards away from the stream and all have septic tanks. Any sewage going into the stream is therefore filtered seepage and there appears to be no contamination. James said the water is pure and comes from a clean mountain stream.

The Health Department is taking no action to disapprove the project, he noted, and townspeople are now ready to proceed with the completion of the pool. Tomorrow, a sluice box will be built to drain the dam if and when necessary. Work will be started on repairing the old stone reservoir wall, additional areas will be cleared, and other work will be resumed. James suggests that volunteers bring shovels, hoes, rakes, axes and carpenter tools.

He also noted that a number of organizations and individuals are promising funds and benefits to aid the project. The group sponsoring the community pool is

Dear Abby - - -

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman with two sons, ages 11 and 9. I have been going steady with a bachelor for eight years. We have been enjoying all the rights and privileges of engaged couples all during this time. Every time I mention marriage he gives me another excuse why he can't marry me. He has nobody else to support and lives alone and has money in the bank. He never bought me one thing that cost over ten dollars and I am the one who has him in my house for dinner without demanding that he take me out. Now will you please tell me why he doesn't marry me? WAITING.

DEAR WAITING: Will you please tell me why he should? He never had it so good.

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man of 20 and my parents are always trying to make me get a date. The fact is that I have asked lots of girls for dates; and have been turned down because I am so homely. I don't want to get hurt any more so I have given up asking. What can I do to get my parents off my neck? Aren't boys supposed to have feelings . . . or is that just for g-Is? A HOMELY BOY.

DEAR YOUNG MAN: Handsome is as handsome does—and if you think only handsome boys get dates with girls, you had better start looking around. Keep asking!

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who admired a hand-knit sweater on me. I told her I would be glad to knit one for her if she would pay for the yarn and buttons. She agreed, but asked if I do the shopping for her. I knit her the sweater and gave it to her. She has worn it for almost two years and never once mentioned paying for the yarn and buttons. How can I get my money?

KNITTER: Don't be a knit-wit. Ask her!

DEAR ABBY: I have been looking in your column to find an answer to my problem but so far haven't found anyone with the same problem I have. It is my husband and what to cook for him. He is the fussiest eater I ever met. Here is a list of things he will not touch: Turkey, chicken, roast beef, pork, lamb, hot dogs, hamburger, vegetables, lemon pie or cake with frosting. I am a good cook but I am at my wits' end trying to find something he will eat. Will you please tell me what I can fix for him? AT WITS' END.

DEAR AT: About the only things left are livers, kidneys, brains, fish, fruit, pumpkin pie and cake without frosting. Good luck!

Pittsburgh Man Finds Assault Of Resident Expensive

A construction crew which puts stone facing on houses yesterday paid $225 to the State's Attorney here to pay medical expenses incurred by a Cumberland man who was assaulted by a member of the crew Tuesday night.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilly said Raymond T. Brandy, 35, of Pittsburgh, paid the costs of repairs to denture plates and eyeglasses which were broken in the scuffle with James E. Kelly, 539 Patterson Avenue.

Kelly also sustained severe cuts of the face and nose in the fight which occurred about 11 p. m. Tuesday following a minor traffic accident.

A car driven by Brandy collided with one operated by Kelly as the latter attempted to turn off Greene Street onto South Allegheny Street.

An argument ensued and Kelly was struck in the face by Brandy. Kelly, a member of the construction crew who was with Brandy and another man at the time, also slightly hurt in the melee, which brought City Police to the scene, was Kelly's son, Patrick.

Police charged both Brandy and Kelly with motor vehicle violations which later were dismissed in Trial Magistrate's Court.

They also charged Stokes with being drunk and disturbing the peace. He paid a $25 fine in Police Court the next day.

Investigator Lilly said assault warrants were sworn out against the Pittsburgh man but the name of Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant, charges were not pressed by the wife of the President.

To Every Voter Interested In Better City Government:

As a city we are now at the bottom of the hill!

Every voter interested in the future of Cumberland should consider carefully how the Eves, Keegan and Buchholtz administration has among other things, acted upon these important city matters . . .

1. Your City Finances

In spite of the highest financial income in the city's history, reckless spending by the Eves, Keegan and Buchholtz administration has left the city without money to operate properly now. This has happened despite the efforts of John J. Long to have a sound pay-as-you-go financial basis.

2. Your City Police & Firemen

The morale of your policemen and firemen is at an all time low. This is a direct result of consistent lack of leadership, incompetency and "bungling".

3. Your City Streets

Look around you, wherever you live, and note the deplorable condition of the streets and alleys you use every day. Nothing more need to be said about this obvious condition, BUT YOUR action is needed if this condition is to be corrected.

4. Your City Water

Compare your latest water bill with any you received four years ago! The bill has doubled and the end is not in sight with the Eves, Keegan and Buchholtz administration.

To correct these conditions new faces, with the exception of John J. Long, are necessary in our City Hall!

A group of civic minded persons have formed a Committee for Better City Government and are sponsoring a series of notices to call your attention, as a voter, to the poor judgment exercised during the last four years by Eves, Keegan and Buchholtz. No candidate for public office is a member of this Committee, nor has the Committee received any commitments or promises from any candidate.

The Committee believes that when you consider the record of Eves, Keegan and Buchholtz YOU will want to —

Legislature Vote On Idle Pay Due

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Legislature was expected to give speedy approval today to a 13-week extension of unemployment benefits and take up some other matters while it was here for a special session.

The Senate convened at 10:23 a. m. and the House seven minutes later in the meeting which was expected to be completed in one day. Both quickly organized by re-electing John C. Luber (D-Balto 5th) speaker of the House, and Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) president of the Senate.

Gov. McKeldin, a lame duck governor, pleaded with the lame duck legislators not to let the session get out of hand on this Friday the 13th.

"You are here primarily to authorize the department of employment security to enter into agreement with the federal government for extending by 50 per cent the period over which unemployment compensation is to be paid to insured beneficiaries," he reminded the legislature in an address sent to them for reading by the desk clerks.

Ask No Potholes
"I recognize the temptation inherent in a gathering such as this, in a time such as this, for the making of a little political hay. I urge that you put the temptation behind you and turn promptly to the serious task of the day."

McKeldin was trying to shut off a flood of local bills which theoretically could be taken up at the wide open session. Two which were not in the group originally agreed upon by the governor and legislative leaders were already printed for introduction but there was strong doubt the rules committee would let them get to the floor.

One would permit Anne Arundel County's outgoing commissioners to put county employees under a merit system and another would exempt military reservations from the new state cigarette tax which takes effect July 1. Del. Lewis S. Tawney, defeated for re-election in Anne Arundel, sponsored the merit system bill. Sen. James (D-Harford) introduced the cigarette tax exemption measure.

Agreed to in advance by the legislative leaders were bills providing for submission of two Baltimore City bond issues to voters and one covering today's legislative expenses.

"The law does not limit you to consideration of those measures which necessitated this convening or made it desirable. I hope that your consciences will," McKeldin said. "Please remember that the 90-day regular session of 1959 is little more than half a year away."

Speedy Action Seen
Whatever difficulties might possibly develop with side issues, the Legislature appeared ready to speed the temporary jobs bill through to passage. The way was paved yesterday at a public hearing by finance committee of the two houses at which business interests, as well as labor, supported it.

Labor served notice that it will be back in January to try to make the 13-week extension permanent, and business said it would be ready to fight any such move although it endorses this bill as an anti-recession measure.

Gov. McKeldin suggested in his speech opening the assembly that the temporary extension of the benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks will give the Legislature an opportunity to decide whether it should become permanent.

"It might well arouse us to the realization that the present 26 weeks limit on compensation payments is unrealistic, not only in occasional times of economic adjustment, but—for some recipients—in years of a normal economy or even in those of prosperity," he said.

Labor leaders have tried since 1955 to get the benefit period extended, primarily to assist older workers who are losing their jobs through technical advances and require longer to find new employment.

Kimble Reports
Robert B. Kimble, director of the Department of Employment Security, said yesterday that 19,466 persons have already exhausted their maximum allowance of 26 weeks of benefit payments under the present law. He said weekly payments have averaged $29.94 per week and that 800 persons are each week joining the list of those whose aid has run out. Many of these have gone to the State Welfare Department for aid.

The State Legislature to be passed today will enable Maryland to take advantage of a new federal law which provides an additional 13 weeks of payment for those who have exhausted their benefits. The estimated $7,800,000 it will cost will have to be repaid by 1963. Kimble predicted it would be made up from a surplus of $900,000 now in the federal fund for such purposes, which he says is owed to the states.

Leaders of the House and Senate expected it would take most of today and possibly even into the evening to complete the work at hand.

County Gets Housing Loan Information

VA Office Keeps Watch On Conditions In Allegany Area

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners today received further information concerning the request that this county be made a direct loan area for veterans' housing under the GI Bill.

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde sent a copy of a letter he has received from W. J. Driver, acting chief benefits director of the Veterans Administration.

Driver's letter stated that a report received at his office from the Baltimore regional manager shows that 45 guaranteed loans were processed in Allegheny County between August of 1957 and May of 1958. The report also stated that 23 per cent of the veterans in Allegheny County have obtained guaranteed loans since the beginning of the program shortly after World War II.

Driver also said that "while mortgage funds for GI loans have been in relatively short supply for some time in eligible and non-eligible direct loan areas, there is evidence of an easing in the supply of GI home mortgage funds in many parts of the country in recent months."

"This is due to the fact that investment in GI home mortgages have become more attractive as a result of the provisions of the 1958 emergency housing legislation, coupled with lowered interest rates on competitive types of capital investments," Driver pointed out.

Driver said it was not intended that the direct loan program should be competitive with private mortgage lending. He said that the VA felt that private lenders should be given a reasonable time to demonstrate their willingness to resume GI home loan activity in areas where private mortgage money has been available.

"The present inadequacy of direct loan funds to meet the demand in currently eligible direct loan areas is also an important consideration in deferring the expansion of direct loan areas at this time," Driver added.

The Baltimore office of the VA has been asked to observe developments in Allegheny County and to submit a supplementary report of the findings in July.

Dick Requests Expense Money

Magistrate J. Milton Dick today asked the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners to rescind an order passed May 29 by which it decided to refuse payment of Dick's expenses when he attends committee meetings of the State Trial Magistrates Association.

Dick, who is president of the state association, also sent a copy of the opinion by Stedman Prescott Jr., an assistant attorney general, in which the commissioners were held liable for expenses of Dick in attending these sessions.

The matter was deferred pending a check of the Prescott ruling by Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board.

The county board had instructed James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board, to write Magistrate Dick that they would not be responsible for expenses incurred while attending the committee meetings in the future. They said they felt the regular meetings of the association came under the provisions of the law providing the payment for expenses for the various magistrates in the county who attend.

Vehicle Tax Funds Sent By Maryland

County Will Keep About Half Of $51,297 Received

A check for $51,297 has been received by the Allegheny County tax collector from the Maryland Department of Motor Vehicles for auto taxes.

Of this sum, the county will retain $25,348. The City of Cumberland will receive $11,508 and allotments will also be made to the other incorporated communities.

Checks were made payable to the county tax collector in the Frostburg area and also to the collector for the Lonaconing area. Paul LaRue in Frostburg will have $7,025 to distribute and James Holmes at Lonaconing will have $7,410. Some of these amounts will revert to the county as these two collectors cover areas which are outside incorporated communities.

The commissioners also received a request from Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, for the tenth and final payments for operation of the school system during the current fiscal year.

The board approved the request for $188,474.40. The money will be taken from accounts in the Liberty Trust Company, First National Bank and Second National Bank in the amount of $62,824.80 from each institution.

The board also approved payment of $6,613.50 to the Upper Potomac River Commission for operation of the Savage River Dam. The request came from Marshall H. Sowers, auditor for the group.

City Making Plans On Site Of New Dump

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said today that plans are being discussed for a possible relocation of the city dump which has been termed a nuisance by some residents residing in Election District 16 along Williams and Oldtown Roads.

The present dump is located off Route 51, Oldtown Road. Smoke and odor is carried "down valley" from the dump toward the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant and over the increasing number of new homes in the area.

Another problem in connection with the present dump is the road leading to it which is creating a maintenance problem because of heavy truck traffic.

Buchholz said another site is under consideration on a lease basis which would result in considerable savings to the city in view of the fact it is closer to Cumberland, is located on a hard-surface road, and the distance for hauling refuse and garbage is shorter which might make it possible to obtain a better price during the next negotiations for the garbage contract. Also important, there would be no cost to the city for maintaining a road.

One other factor favoring moving the site from its present location is the Industrial Boulevard. Buchholz said when the boulevard is completed and if the dump is maintained at its present site, it would be inevitable that paper and trash from garbage trucks using the highway on their way to the dump would be scattered along the area as is presently the case along Oldtown Road.

Plans for the 118th anniversary of the lodge, to be celebrated in the fall, will be discussed, according to Earl Ashenfelter, noble grand.

The institute is being directed by C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, and Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant director.

C&O Canal Park Hearing Schedule Set

Hearings on the C&O Canal Historical Park Bill have been scheduled June 30 and July 1 by the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee. Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde has announced.

The hearings are scheduled for 10 a. m. in Room 1324 of the New House Office Building.

In announcing the hearings, Rep. Hyde said the bill has already passed the Senate and is probably the most important bill that affects a project lying solely within the Sixth District of Maryland, which he represents.

The proposed park, he said, will have national significance and be of great economic and social benefit.

The Senate passed the bill last August 30 but the House, in its last day of the session, was unable to act as there was no time to schedule hearings.

The bill provides for the expenditure of $2,000,000 for the acquisition of additional land along the historic waterway.

It gives the National Park Service authority to acquire up to 15,000 acres of land along the canal route.

Also included is authorization for the construction of a scenic parkway, overlooking the canal, from Route 51 at Paw Paw, Va., to Long Ridge Road, near Woodmont, which would connect to a road to U. S. Route 40.

The park itself would extend 165 miles from Great Falls to a point near Cumberland and would comprise some 4,800 acres of land.

The canal property was acquired by the government from the B&O Railroad for $2,000,000 in 1938. The canal property touches the Potomac for the first 10 miles, then departs from the river. About 3,000 acres of land remain in private ownership between the canal and the river.

Trade Workers Get Pay Increase

A 15-cent an hour wage increase for workers in the building trades will go into effect July 1, according to Harry L. Kieckie, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council.

He said the increase was negotiated between the trades unions and area contractors.

All of the contracts, he said, will call for 7½ cents an hour health and welfare payments. Funds are paid to the Construction Industry Insurance Fund of Western Maryland, set up in 1956 to protect workers against hardships resulting from sickness, accident and death.

Current rates range from $1.95 an hour for laborers to $3.65 for shovel operators.

Unions affiliated with the council include the teamsters, carpenters, cement finishers, laborers, iron workers and operating engineers locals.

A number of crafts engaged in the building field are employed by sub-contractors and negotiate contracts with them and not the general contractors.

Worker Penalty
Halved By Board

The Cumberland Civil Service Commission has sustained one of four charges preferred by the Department of Streets and Public Property against Louis A. Rattenni, a laborer at the sewage treatment plant.

In its unanimous decision, the board sustained the first charge brought by Commissioner William H. Buchholz but reduced the 30-day suspension to 15 days.

In sustaining the first charge, the commission said the specifications could be better characterized as a continued poor attitude on the part of the employee and that as such the charge was sustained.

The charge was preferred as insubordination—and said in part "that he had on numerous occasions failed to obey reasonable orders given him by superiors without first arguing and debating the reasons for the order."

Air Network
Plan Given
SRC Approval

SALISBURY (AP)—The State Roads Commission approved a $225,000 plan for a radio network yesterday to help it cope with traffic jams and emergencies like blizzards.

The commission, meeting near Salisbury at a restaurant owned by Edgar T. Bennett, one of its members, said about one-half the cost of network would be paid by the Civil Defense Agency. The radio hookup would also be used by that agency in the event of a national emergency.

Besides approving the network plan, the commission also gave the green light to the relocation of West Church Street in Salisbury as part of the U.S. 50 bypass project and named James D. Edmunds Jr. of Baltimore as the architect on its project to build an SRC building in Frederick.

Unemployment Benefit Claims Dip

BALTIMORE (AP)—New claims for unemployment insurance benefits in Maryland dropped 32 per cent in May.

The Department of Employment Security, reporting this yesterday, said there were 21,827 new claims compared with 32,102 in April.

The total of checks and money paid to the jobless was also down.

Payments to claimants both in the state and outside added up to 191,416 checks and $3,630,321 during May. For the preceding month those figures were 211,250 and $4,311,600.

Robert S. Kimble, director of the department, said on reviewing the figures, "Maryland's economy demonstrated sufficient health to respond to seasonal influences."

Yanks, Braves Gain While On Treadmill

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves have discovered a neat trick—how to gain ground on a treadmill. It sounds impossible but that's exactly what the two league leaders have been doing for the last week or 10 days.

And it makes you wonder what's going to happen to the races when the defending champs start rolling again.

The Yankees, for example, have played only 500 ball since June 7, three wins in six games, yet have increased their American League lead from 8½ to nine games. And, since June 1, the Braves have been below .500, four wins in nine games, yet they've gone from a game behind the San Francisco Giants to a game and a half in front of them.

Yanks Win Night Game.

The business-like Yankees had a trying 10-hour day "at the office" yesterday but wound up protecting their huge lead by winning the 11-inning night game, 3-2, after suffering a 4-1 defeat at the hands of the Kansas City Athletics in the day game. Relief ace Ryne Duren finally established law and order with the upstart Athletics by striking out four of the five batters he faced and picking up his third victory against one loss.

The Braves, meanwhile, treated the Chicago Cubs to an early 4-1 lead with four errors but rallied for a 5-4 triumph and picked up a full game when the Pittsburgh Pirates handed the Giants their fifth straight loss and 12th in 16 games, 2-1, on Curt Raydon's two-hitter.

The Boston Red Sox moved into second place with a 4-2 decision over the Detroit Tigers, the Washington Senators nipped the Chicago White Sox, 6-5, on Neil Chrissy's eighth-inning triple and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Cleveland Indians, 7-5, in other AL games.

In the other NL activity, Brooks Lawrence's six-hitter gave the Cincinnati Redlegs a 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and Harry Anderson led the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-3 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Redlegs have a 13-6 record since May 21 when they stood 11-17.

The Athletics snapped an 18-game losing streak at Yankee Stadium when Ray Herbert pitched a six-hitter. Billy Hunter, traded after the game to Cleveland, hit a two-run triple and led the attack on Tom Sturdivant. The Yankees came back at night to beat 42-year old Murry Dickson when Andy Carey led off the 12th with a single, stole second, went to third on an error and scored on Elston Howard's single.

Ed Matthews' 13th homer produced a 4-4 tie for the Braves in the seventh and Del Crandall singled home Johnny Logan in the eighth with the decisive tally.

Humberto Robinson won his first game for the Braves while Moe Drabowsky, who pitched a one-hitter in his previous start, lost his sixth decision.

Paul Geil walked home the decisive run for the Pirates in the sixth-inning after the Bases became loaded on a walk, a hit batsman and an error. Raydon, who yielded singles to Daryl Spencer and Orlando Cepeda, struck out five and walked six in posting his first major league victory.

Jackie Jensen hit his 15th homer and Sammy White had four straight hits as the Red Sox scored their eighth victory in 11 games. Dave Sisler won his sixth game although like Delock shut out the Tigers for the last three and ⅔ innings. The loss was the first for new Detroit pilot Bill Norman.

Orioles Win

Chrissy's triple enabled submarine relief star Dick Hyde to win his fourth game for the Senators and dealt Early Wynn his fifth defeat. Roy Sievers hit his 12th homer for Washington and Al Smith hit two for the White Sox, including a two-run eighth-inning blow that produced a 5-3 tie.

Jim Marshall hit a two-run second homer and drove in the tie-breaking run in the fifth as Connie Johnson gained his third win for Baltimore. Chico Carrasquel, who went to Kansas City in the deal for Hunter, paced Cleveland's attack with three singles. Don Mossi suffered his sixth loss.

Ed Bailey's two-run homer and Frank Robinson's solo shot paced a 10-hit Cincinnati attack on Vinegar Bend Mizell. Lindy McDaniel and Phil Paine. Lawrence struck out five and walked none in winning his fourth game.

Anderson drove in three runs with a double and single and Willie Jones homered for the Phillies who have won three of their last four games. Relief pitcher Dick Farrell won his third game for Philadelphia while Rookie Stan Williams, who pitched a two-hit shutout against the Cubs in his debut on June 1, was the loser.

Barrelville Gets Eighth Straight Win

Behind the six-hit pitching of Ralph Wilson, Barrelville scored its eighth consecutive win yesterday as the Pen-Mar Little League leaders downed LaVale's Maroons, 5-2, at LaVale. The win set Barrelville's record at 8-2.

Wilson went the route for the winners, striking out 12 and scattering six hits.

Home runs by Kennell, Barth and Wilson featured the defending champs' hitting parade. Three singles by Gary Barb and two-base knocks by Eddie Struntz were among the winner's ten hits. Dave Merrill led LaVale's hitters with two triples and a single.

Eagles Top Ellerslie

The Cresaptown Eagles remained a half game off the pace by defeating Ellerslie, 6-3.

Steve Vandenburg limited Ellerslie batters to three hits and set down 14 on strikes to hang up his fourth victory of the season.

Terry Wendt, who has pitched the league's only no-hit, no-run game, smashed a pair of homers, singled and batted in three runs while Bob Robinson homered and singled. Bohn clouted a five-bagger and singled for Ellerslie.

Orioles Lose Tenth

LaVale's Orioles suffered their tenth straight defeat, this one coming at the hands of Tri-State Memorial, 3-1.

Roger Wilt performed all the pitching chores for Tri-State while Aaron was the loser.

Lee Brennaman collected two hits and J. Miller rapped a triple for Tri-State. Payne had two of the Orioles' seven safeties.

Golfers Criticize PGA For Tough Open Course

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

TULSA, Okla.—(UPI)—The toughest and one of the most criticized U.S. Open championships of them all saw three veterans of the golf wars—Julius Boros, Tommy Bolt and Dick Metz—lead the field into the second round today with the Southern Hills course's tough par 70 proving more than the nation's best golfers could crack.

Boros, who won the Open in 1952 and who is 38; Bolt, who is 39; and Metz, who is 50, carded one over par 71's in the first round—the first time since the Open was held at scorned Oak and Hills at Birmingham, Mich., in 1951, that the field hasn't been able to break par.

Back then, Sam Snead, the 5-1 favorite to win this one, shot 71. Yesterday, Snead, "whose driver went sour on him, carded a 75."

The 95-degree heat, the clutching rough, the 25-mile an hour winds, the powdery fine sand traps, the mud in the watered fairways, the pin-placements and the spike marks on the green had most of the 162 players in the field groaning. Two of them—Ernie Ball and Johnny Bulla—gave up the ghost and withdrew without completing the first round.

Tough, But Fair

Not since Oakland Hills, has a course caused so much complaining. But there was a big difference—at Oakland Hills, the players thought the course was tricked up too much, with bunkers catching 250 and 260-yard drives straight down the middle. Here, they think the course is tough, but fair.

They blame the conditions here, except for the heat and wind, on the U. S. Golf Association.

"The scores bore out their crying that conditions were far from satisfactory when 81 players—exactly half the field—failed to break 80, which is 10 over par, and five were in the 90's. Never has an Open seen such high scores."

The pin placements came in for the most criticism.

"What are they trying to do, drive all the young golfers out of business," asked the 56-year-old Gene Sarazen, competing in his 28th Open. "The officials of the USGA who figured out those placements should be hanged."

"They are a joke," Bob Rosburg of San Francisco added. "And I suppose they will be even worse for the second round today."

The rough was cut to a uniform four inches, but it still was more than most of the golfers could handle. For the most part, they simply had to wedge out back onto the fairway.

Hogan Cites Spike Marks

Ben Hogan, shooting for an unprecedented fifth Open crown, said the spike marks on the greens late in the afternoon made it "impossible to get a true line on a putt."

Dodgers Face Hot Pirates, Friday, 13th

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The last place Dodgers, badly in need of a change of luck, run into Friday the 13th and the red hot Pittsburgh Pirates tonight.

Manager Walter Alston named southpaw Sandy Koufax (3-2) for the Dodgers against Ronnie Kline (6-6) in the opener of a three-game series.

The Dodgers dropped the series, 2-1, and another close game, 4-3, to Philadelphia Thursday, and now rest again a game and one-half behind the Phils in the National League dungeon.

An estimated 30,000 fans are expected to see the game tonight. There were 9,899 on hand for the Philly finale, bringing the season's home attendance for 30 games to 855,957.

Thursday's affair was a close one after the Dodgers blew a 3-0 lead and the Phils' Willie Jones evened the count with a homer in the sixth.

The Phils won it in the ninth when Richie Ashburn singled, advanced to second on Solly Hemus' bunt and came home on Harry Anderson's sharp single to center.

Mangrum Stroke Off

Under the conditions, those one over par 71's by Boros, Bolt and Metz were remarkable. For this is supposed to be a young man's course—yet the average age of the 11 leaders was 39.

A stroke off the pace of the leaders was 43-year-old Lloyd Mangrum, who won this one back in 1946 and 35-year-old Frank Stranahan. At 73, two strokes behind the front running trio, were Crampton and grandpaw Jimmy Demaret, who is 47.

Two-time U.S. amateur champion Harvie Ward, 33; 27-year-old Gene Littler; Smiley Quick, who is 48; and 50-year-old Labron Harris, a teaching pro from Stillwater, Okla., were at 74.

There were 20 at 75. Besides Hogan, Snead, Middlecoff and Harbert, they included Pat Schwab, the young bridegroom from Dayton, O.; Mike Souhak, former PGA king Walter Burkemo, Masters champion and leading money winner Arnold Palmer, the veteran Freddie Haas and Rosburg.

Sarazen, who won this one for the first time back in 1921 and then repeated in 1931, carded an 84.

Willie Mays Puzzled By Plate Slump

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—What's happened to Willie Mays? That's what San Francisco baseball fans ask. And they don't wonder about it any more than Willie himself. He has been through a long six day slump with only one single—the infield variety—in 23 times at bat.

Willie's hot hitting streak that put him at the top of the National League batting race ended abruptly last Saturday against the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The night before he had opened with a 400-foot home run and added two singles in his three official times at bat.

That gave him the batting lead at .433 through his surge of 17 hits in 27 times at bat.

Then the touch vanished. Willie dropped to .393 and behind Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals again.

"I just don't know," Mays says of his batting doldrums. "I don't know."

As Willie goes, so do the Giants, and the club finds itself in its worst slump since starting shop on the West Coast April 15.

San Francisco, opening a series against Philadelphia here tonight, has (1) lost five straight, (2) dropped 12 of its last 16 and (3) fallen 1½ games behind the National League pace of the Milwaukee Braves.

Thursday Pittsburgh beat the Giants 2-1 and Mays contributed one of his few fielding errors. It led to the first Pirate run.

Marjorie Lindsey Eliminates Champ

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Marjorie Lindsey of Decatur, Ill., gave the Trans-Mississippi Women's Golf tournament a new look today after eliminating the National Open champion.

Miss Lindsey easily defeated Jo Anne Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash., 4 and 3 Thursday.

Today the Decatur girl went into the semi-finals against Sherry Wheeler, 17, Glasgow, Ky., who also got past a favorite, Miss Wheeler defeated the defending Trans-Mississippi champion, Mrs. James Ferrie of Gardnerville, Calif., 1 up.

The other semi-finals contest matched Andrea Cohn, 18, Waterloo, Iowa, against Mrs. J. Harry Henderson, Alexandria, La.

Mrs. Henderson defeated Lois Draffe, LaGrange, Ill., 1 up, rallying on the last two holes.

Unbeaten Local 26 Risks Rec Record This Evening

Undeclared Local 26 will lay its four-game win skein on the line today when meeting Marine Reserve in one of two Rec Softball League games billed for this evening. The game will be played at Fort Hill field.

The league's other game finds Salvation Army clashing with National Guard on the Naval Reserve diamond. Both games will get underway at 6:15 p. m.

Local 26 occupies first place in league standings, a half game ahead of Ridgeley's American Legion, which defeated Don McIntyre's, 8-3, yesterday at Post Field behind the five-hit pitching of Gene Hess.

The win was the fourth against one loss for Hess, who fanned eight in yesterday's contest.

Michael and Joe Gobeil with a triple and two singles each accounted for six of Ridgeley's 10 hits. Bob Pomroy starred at field for the winners, making several nice stabs of would-be base raps at his second base post.

Bert Lawler, playing manager, collected two hits for McIntyre's.

Scoring three runs in the bottom of the sixth, Western Maryland won its third game by posting a 14-9 victory over Keech's Drug Stores at Naval Reserve field.

Carl Phillips, with a homer, triple and single, Lambert Ellsworth with a homer and single, Ansel Shircliffe with three bingles, Gerald Lambert and Johnny Mills with a double and single paced the Railroaders' 16-hit attack. Denny Knippenberg went all the way for the win while Bob Scalletta got the loss.

The losers were paced at the plate by Bobby Redman, Morgan, Robb and Steckman, all of whom

Hurlers Pace 'Stove Wins

Pitching was the feature yesterday in the Hot Stove League as Ronnie Evans, Lions Club hurler, and Phil Barbe, firing for Jaycees, struck out a combination total of 34 while pacing their teams to victory in a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field.

Evans fanned 18 as the Lions won their first game of the year with a 6-4 decision over Bedford Road Optimists. The loss was the first in two starts for Bedford Road.

Evans pitched a three-hitter in the evening's first game, but issued nine free passes: Homer Hardinger, lasted the distance for the losers, whiffing five and issuing three free tickets.

Jimmy Bell, Evans', and Mike Miller carried the brunt of Jaycees hitting by garnering two safeties apiece. Harold and Homer Hardinger and Jimmy Seeders were credited with the loser's bingles.

Barbe fired the third strike past 16 Rotary batsmen in chucking the Jaycees to an 11-3 victory in the nightcap.

The winners backed Barbe's three-hit performance by showering 12 hits over the diamond and scoring four runs in each the first and sixth innings. All three hits credited to the losers were obtained by Joe Ranker.

Morgan belted two doubles and a single and "Butch" Cross walked a twin-baser for the Jaycees.

Marlene Hagge Leads Tourney

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP)—Marlene Hagge, unhappy with her game a week ago because she was "steering" the ball, today is the leader entering the second round of the $12,000 Round Robin Women's Invitation golf tournament.

Mrs. Hagge had plus 23 points on a three-under-par round of 70 Thursday—10 points ahead of runnerup Betty Dodd who had tied her for 17th in the LPGA.

The tournament consists of 16 top pros playing in changing foursomes for five rounds through Sunday. A plus point is awarded for every stroke a player has under her three rivals and a minus point for every stroke over them.

Louise Suggs and Patty Berg are tied for third with plus six.

Sports Shoppe Plays Old Exports Today

Only one game is scheduled in the City Softball League this evening, Sports Shoppe engaging Old Exports at East Side Field, starting at 6:15.

The contest between Chaney's Transportation and Knights of Columbus has been postponed by agreement. Chaney's, however, will meet Ridgeley Legion of the Rec League in a practice game, 6 p. m., at Post Field.

Three Games Billed In County League

Stringtown will be out to protect its County Softball League lead tonight when hosting Kennel's Mill in one of three league games billed for this evening at 6:15 p. m.

Stringtown is currently leading the loop with a 9-2 record while Kennel's Mill is perched in third position with 6-5.

West Is Kept Out Of Lead

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand, also taken from Watson's book on play, illustrates the so-called backward finesse. This is a finesse taken the wrong way in an effort to keep the dangerous opponent out of the lead. You are willing to sacrifice one potential trick in the suit to gain this advantage.

You are declarer at three no-trump and win the third heart lead. You need four diamond tricks for your contract and want to keep West out of the lead while you are establishing the suit.

Your correct play is to lead the jack of diamonds from your hand and let it ride. The way the cards

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, June 14, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Keep trying to achieve your goals despite possible setbacks. Worthwhile things never come easy, but, once earned, they are appreciated the more. Relax during free hours.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Don't belittle others or their efforts. A tendency to gossip is prevalent; avoid it. Prepare yourself for an erratic schedule which can lead to new gains. Rely on tried-and-true methods.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Clamp down on waste motion. Time is precious, so spend it where it will do the most good. Strengthen position in the most judicious planning, clever management.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Good influences. Be alert, acquisitive, analytical. Business and family matters, personal interests can profit through astute action.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Capitalize on all available opportunities. Use your own initiative and conclusions. Heed valuable advice from loved ones. Don't overdo physically.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Four weeks of business and family matters. Carry your swiftness, however, and others will be happy to associate with you. Don't be too hasty in your decisions.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Day should be pleasant and productive. Difficult projects, weighty undertakings equally favored with lesser tasks. Skill, efficiency, artistry stimulated.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—Don't underestimate yourself or your ability. Have confidence in being able to produce the end product required. You are governed by fine aspects now.

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Like Scorpio, you should feel the assurance that your right direction is your method of tackling matters effectively. Smarten up your judgment now.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn)—Rescue yourself from humdrum—but reasonably. When you are "bored" you perform better. If you are logical, circumstances may dictate bold, aggressive action, but be realistic. Good aspects for property deals.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius)—Re-evaluate past actions, proposed plans. Are you heading in the right direction? Is your method of tackling matters effective? Smarten up your judgment now.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces)—Do not let yourself short. Maintain an even, steady tempo with adequate, continuing resiliency. Friends and family will help you. Concentrate on facts, but have well-founded theories, too.

YOU BORN TODAY: The dual quality in the Gemini individual often leads to an interesting, but intricate, life—and sometimes many problems, but you don't mind. You can be inconsistent, yet often are just doing things a different way and only seem inconsistent. Do not let your own behavior who may not understand your disconcerting methods. Outstanding assets: idealism, philosophy, art, music, any activity bringing you in contact with many people is especially suitable to you. East German Girls On 'Love Strike' To Keep Men From Drinking

By JOSEPH FLEMING

BERLIN — (UPI) — East German girls have gone on a "love strike" to keep their boy friends from drinking.

Hans has been given the choice of Gretel or the bottle.

Female members of the Soviet Zone Communist Youth Organization have vowed to become German-style Carrier Nations to help up the Kremlin's anti-alcohol campaign. But while America's Carrier Nation only broke up saloons in her temperance drive, the East German girls threaten to break up romances.

The girls went into action because few East Europeans heed Communist orders to sober-

Now the Reds are using sex as a weapon to keep men on the wagon.

The love strike was started by Gisela Huth of Schwerin, who complained that her boy friend "once or twice a week consumed alcohol into the early hours."

She told the Communist youth newspaper "Young World" that all her powers of persuasion failed to keep her boy friend out of bars.

Finally, she told him, "If you do not stop drinking, I will leave you."

Her decision was hailed by other girls who adopted the same course.

Friends Aware of Handicapped Children will hold a series of swimming classes at Constitution Park pool beginning next Wednesday. The program is being sponsored by the Opti-Mrs. Club. Information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Leo Barkman at PA 2-1636, or Charles Statler at PA 4-3108.

Twenty-eight voting machines to be used in next Tuesday's general election have been prepared by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors along with other details, according to Irvin J. Neat, chief clerk and Republican registrar.

The voting machines will be delivered to the 15 voting places Saturday or Monday, Neat said.

All election supplies, including binders, voting machine keys, return sheets and other paraphernalia will be delivered to the chief judges Saturday.
